Showing the way

We are in London. A tourist wants to visit the museum. He asks policeman for his way.

Tourist: Excuse me, sir.

Policeman: Yes, can I help you?

Tourist: Could you tell me how to get to the museum, please?

Policeman: Yes, certainly, it's quite easy. Go along this street, then turn left. Walk down as far as the traffic lights. After that, take the first turning on your right, the museum is just there.

Tourist: Oh! I see. It sounds easy.

the

Thank you very much sir.

Policeman: That's all right.

3-Remember

To ask for instructions or directions, we use what we call: “Polite requests”.

Example:

Could you tell me how to get to the museum please?

Polite requests:

- Can you, please? (informal)
- Could you, please? (formal)
- Would you, please?
- Can I help you? (is an expression people use to offer their help)
- We have learnt how to formulate Polite requests informally

Example:

- Can you show me the way, please? (formally)
- Could you tell me how to make a pizza, please?
- Would you direct me to the post-office, please?

- We use the imperative to give instructions (to show the way).

Example:

Turn right, take the first turning on your left.....
